Information sheet for border workers and their non-employed family members concerning compulsory health insurance in Switzerland

Since the bilateral agreements between Switzerland and the EU and its member states regarding the free movement of persons have taken effect, border workers and their non-employed family members are subject to the regulations governing compulsory health insurance in Switzerland. The spouse and the children are considered to be non-employed family members only if this parent does not work in the country of residence.

Border workers from neighbouring states (Germany, France, Italy, Austria), however, have the option to choose between a health insurance in Switzerland and one in their country of residence. This option has to be taken up within three months of the date of validity of the border workers permit.
